

DRIVES LAUNCHED ON TWO ITALIAN FRONTS

Anti Fourth Term Faction Controls Texas Convention

Roosevelt Group Withdraws When Beaten in Tests

Regulars Refuse To Endorse F.D.R.

(By The Associated Press)

Texas Democrats, torn by disunion over the Fourth term and the issues, yesterday (Tuesday) split into two factions each of which had delegations demanding to be seated at the party's national convention.

And scenes of turbulence, backbiting and a proposal to pledge the thirty-three delegates to the national convention to renominating President Roosevelt withdrew from the regular state convention after being beaten twice on test votes.

Criticize New Deal

Thereupon, the regular convention proceeded to elect an unpaid delegate and adopt resolutions critical of the national administration. One warned that if the "anti-convention" delegates were seated at the national convention, the regular convention would not be bound to support the party's national nomination.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Baltimore, picked up still more support for the Republican presidential nomination.

Georgia GOP Split

A national Republican fight developed in Georgia, resulting in separate conventions yesterday to elect delegates to the national convention. One group instructed delegates to support Dewey. The other group, four unseated delegates, declared that the issue between the two groups was reported to be solely a question of control of the state.

Republicans, in convention, to send an unopposed delegation of thirty-three to the national convention, and the delegates agreed to depart from the state.

Subjects were that in the earlier national convention, balloting should be split between Dewey and Governor John W. Bricker, of Ohio, a speaker at the Texas convention.

The Texas Democratic convention, favoring an unopposed delegation to the national convention, generally regarded as anti-Fourth term, not only defeated a proposal to pledge the presidential electors in advance, but beat back efforts to displace their candidate for temporary chairman and to have the delegates to take a vote to support the party's nomination.

Republicans Hear Bricker

The Texas Republican convention, Gov. John W. Bricker, of Ohio, declared, in obvious reference to the Montgomery Ward case, that "no business in this country is immune from seizure, then we no longer have a constitutional president—we have a dictator."

Donald D. Heck, speaker of the New York State Assembly, a supporter of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, told the same convention if the executive branch in Washington continues to "encroach upon the rights of other branches of government," it will result in the "final and complete loss of the rights of the people."

Major Tom Miller of Austin was named temporary chairman of the Roosevelt convention.

Miller referred to leaders of the unopposed convention as "those men who would destroy the president, our commander-in-chief."

Not since the historic inter-party fight between James Stephen Hogg and George Clark of Waco for the governorship, has Texas seen the passage of two Democratic conventions.

Benefits for Veterans: Senate-House Committee Agrees To $2,500 Loans To Build Homes

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—A Senate-House committee cleared the first barrier today on the way to a compromise on a broad program of veterans' benefits by agreeing that the government should lend servicemen up to $2,500 to buy or build homes, or purchase farms or businesses.

The Veterans Administration would handle the loans, utilizing government lending agencies, and veterans would pay no more than 3 per cent interest.

The "G.I. Bill of Rights" passed originally by the Senate called for government loans at 3 per cent interest up to $1,000. The House voted to guarantee 50 per cent of the private loans, up to a maximum guarantee of $2,500, at 6 per cent interest.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) said the Senate opposed the House provisions on grounds they set up a "paradise for loan sharks" and would encourage irresponsible lending agents to meet every boat load of returning soldiers.

The conferees reported no agreement had been reached on provisions for continuing the education of men in service or on unemployment compensation features of the legislation.

The Senate approved a year's unemployment compensation, while the House accepted twenty-six weeks as the maximum. There was some talk of compromising on forty.

Nazi Propaganda Becomes Gloomy

Aerial Offensive Bothers Berlin

(By William Smith White)

LONDON, May 23 (AP)—German propaganda reached a deep pitch of gloom today, perhaps in an attempt to create Allied over-confidence on the eve of invasion.

In a broadcast from the Nazi-controlled Paris radio, the French commentator Robert De Beaulieu declared that as a result of the Allied aerial offensive against communications targets, "the French railway system is in complete chaos."

Hitler to Mussolini

It was the fifth anniversary of the formation of the Axis military alliance, and there was sobriety even in the message Hitler sent Mussolini on the occasion: "I want to express my unshakable belief that despite all difficulties that have to be overcome, at the end of this struggle the tri-partite powers will have victory."

Whatever their motive, the Nazis permitted the French commentator De Beaulieu to draw this gloomy picture of inside France:

"The French railway system is in complete chaos. The Allies have successfully pulverized into rubble whole marshalling yards. They have destroyed countless locomotives."

Paris Short of Food

"Saboteurs have also put out of action the whole hydro-electric system in France. The whole problem of transport in France is a desolate sight, and the temper of the population, especially that of Paris, is rising, because no food is available, nobody can travel and there are restrictions in the use of electricity."

Frenchmen are blaming the Germans for all this misery which has descended on France."

In Britain still more passenger trains were cancelled as time-tables throughout the country were put on a virtual day-to-day basis to facilitate movement of troops.

Invasion was mentioned in the House of Commons as being imminent, although it was done in the restrained language of officialdom.

Asked about the clothing to be provided discharged soldiers, War Secretary Sir James Grigg replied that all such matters had to be planned "consistent with preparing for future operations which are now imminent."

Faithfulness Rewarded

OLD FORGE, N. Y., May 23 (AP)—After twenty-six years as "temporary" librarian, Mrs. Mabel Parsons has accepted permanent appointment at the Old Forge public library.

Washington, May 23 (AP)—Two congressional committees today agreed down demands for specific inquiries into the CIO Political Action Committee and how it is operating in this election year.

The House Rules committee, however, approved a compromise bill which broadens the usual biennial campaign expenses inquiry to include contributions of labor unions.

Across the capital, Senator Ball (D-Minn.) proposed that the Senate Campaign Expenditures committee inquire into the CIO organization for a report of receipts and disbursements, plus all literature it has distributed.

Recalling that Sidney Hillman had advocated a fourth term for President Roosevelt, Ball said:

"If he made that statement as chairman of the Political Action Committee, it seems to me to be a violation of the Smith-Connally law."

Ball's motion was defeated 2 to 1 by Chairman Green (D-R-I) and Senator Tamm (D-Ind.) voting against it. Two committee members, Senators Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Stewart (D-Tenn.), were absent.

Green said the Justice department had already investigated and cleared the Political Action Committee.

Dewey Endorsed By Maryland GOP State Convention

"Roosevelt Gang" Flayed by Sloan

(By Fred Stabley)

BALTIMORE, May 23 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York won the endorsement of Maryland Republicans today as the party's presidential candidate, although the state's delegation to the national convention remained unopposed by mandate of the voters.

The Republican state convention, in an unexpectedly harmonious session, unanimously adopted a resolution recommending to the members of the delegation that they vote to support the New York chief executive in the Chicago convention.

Delegation Unpledged

Law requires that the delegation go unpledged because GOP voters so decided in the May 1 preferential primary, in which the only issue was whether the group should be uncommitted or pledged to Wendell L. Willkie, who has withdrawn from the contest.

The convention also presented "to said delegates for their consideration and support x x x for vice-president" Rep. Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, who keynoted the GOP state convocation.

A resolution attacking the leadership of Galen L. Tait, Republican state central committee chairman, was overruled by acclamation. Only a few scattered dissenting voices were heard.

Although the party will have but 16 votes at the national convention in Chicago, twenty-two delegates actually were elected, ten of them to have full votes, the other twelve half votes.

The candidacy of Blanchard Randall, Jr., for the United States Senate at next fall's general election was certified and made unanimous on passage of a motion brought by an adherent of Paul Robertson, of Baltimore, whom Randall defeated in the recent primaries.

The only discordant note in the otherwise solid harmony of the meeting came with election of delegates from the Third legislative district (Continued on Page 10, Col. 4)

Likes Blackjack For Killing Japs

Soldier Prefers Silent Methods

FAIRMONT, W. Va., May 23 (AP)—When Pfc. Lawrence Woodward, with the marines on Bougainville, comes to close grips with the enemy he likes to dispose of him with as little noise as possible, the fighter's father, J. F. Woodward, said today.

Sometimes, as Woodward related the story, his son wrote for a hunting knife and when it was sent to him word came back that it hadn't proved exactly to his liking because the enemy "always squealed when struck."

Would the folks please send him a blackjack?

Woodward senior bargained for one at police headquarters, and a letter from Bougainville indicated today this weapon is working out quite satisfactorily in hand-to-hand encounters.

Wrote Pfc. Woodward: "One pop, no squeal, no Jap."

Committee Rejects Bond Advertising

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The House Rules committee today rejected for a third time proposed legislation to authorize the treasury to spend $15,000,000 in smaller newspaper advertising to promote the sale of war bonds.

Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) said the action left little doubt in his opinion that the bill had been finally shelved.

Opponents of the measure have contended that newspapers now give ample free space voluntarily for bond promotion.

Red Skelton Deferred

HOLLYWOOD, May 23 (AP)—A two-weeks deferment has been granted Richard (Red) Skelton, actor, by his Selective Service board, his radio studio announced today.

Skelton is now scheduled for induction June 7 unless further deferments are granted.

Attack on FDR Featured Mass Sedition Trial

Lawyer Says Stalin Controls President

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—After five weeks of preliminary maneuvering, the mass sedition trial finally reached the evidence-taking stage today with Peter Gissibl, who identified himself as former leader of the Chicago German-American Bund, relating how the bund was organized.

From the witness stand, Gissibl pointed out three of the twenty-nine defendants as fellow members of the bund. They were Wilhelm Kunze, former national leader, August Klapproff, deputy national leader, and Herman Max Schwinn, West coast leader.

Before Gissibl took the stand, Justice Edward C. Eicher, presiding in United States district court, overruled a prosecution motion to strike from the record most of the opening statement of Henry H. Klein, counsel for Eugene N. Sanctuary, one of the defendants.

Klein had told the jury that President Roosevelt ordered the trial to "cover up the crimes of government," and said the defense would show the president is under "complete control" of Premier Stalin of Russia.

In the first hour Gissibl was on the stand, Prosecutor Joseph W. Burns managed to ask only about a dozen questions.

After each question, practically all of the defense attorneys jumped to their feet to make arguments. After hearing one or two of them, Justice Eicher then called the role of attorneys so that all their objections would be noted.

At one point, John W. Jackson, representing Gerald B. Winrod, Wichita, Kas., said he regarded Burns's questions as highly leading, and suggested that the record show that he objected to all the questions so that he would not have to slow down the proceeding after each question.

Another attorney, however, protested that he would not "waive my rights," so the attorneys continued to object constantly.

British Astonished By What Their Sons Learned in America

LONDON, May 23 (AP)—Hundreds of British youngsters from 5 to 16 who have returned after four years in the United States gave their parents somewhat of a shock today with their breezy manner and American talk.

"Hi ya, pop," some of the children greeted their fathers. Those who had been shy when they went away in 1940 to escape German bombers appeared to have gained confidence. They hailed everybody as "buddy."

"It will take the youngsters a year to readjust themselves," one of the mothers said. So far more than 2,000 British mothers and their children have returned.

One newspaper headline read: "2,000 To Re-learn 'English'."

Goering's First Team Challenged

Former Grid Star Looking for Fight

(By Judson O'Quinn)

A UNITED STATES NINTH AIR FORCE FIGHTER-BOMBER BASE IN ENGLAND, May 23 (AP)—For Capt. Henry J. (Hank) Mazur, a halfback who rated all-American mention at West Point before he became a Thunderbolt fighter-bomber pilot, "These pre-invasion missions are like scrimmages before a football game."

"We're in fine trim and ready to take on Goering's first team any time," the captain and star passer of Army's 1942 football team asserted today.

"Hank," who hails from Lowell, Mass., likened his fighter-bomber to a triple-threat grid star because the plane is equally useful for dive-bombing, strafing and escort missions.

Mazur is back with his Thunderbolt group after warming the bench for several weeks because of a dislocated shoulder suffered in a parachute jump. He bailed out over England when his engine failed while returning from an escort mission over Germany.

"I've named my new ship 'Clay' after my money in Chicopee, Mass.," he added.

PITTSBURGH, May 23 (AP)—The Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation was cleared today of charges of falsifying steel test records on war orders to meet government specifications.

Six men and six women of a federal jury reached their verdict of acquittal six and one half hours after they retired to consider the evidence in a three-week long trial.

The charges grew out of hearings conducted by the Truman Senate investigating committee, which led to indictments by a federal jury at Pittsburgh on May 27, 1943.

Fate of German Army and Rome Near Decision

Savage Attacks Made by Allies

(By Edward Kennedy)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, May 23 (AP)—Massed Allied armies on the Anzio beachhead and on the main Italian front launched simultaneous offensives today, touching off a great battle which may determine the fates both of Rome and of the German Tenth army within the next few days.

Paced by a terrific aerial onslaught which rained thousands of bombs on Nazi troop concentrations and communications, American and British troops of the Fifth army lashed out from the beachhead less than twenty miles from the outskirts of Rome under the personal direction of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, who had established field headquarters in the battle zone.

On Way to Rome

Veteran American infantrymen struck toward Cisterna in order to cut the Germans' principal line of communication with the main Italian front, and British Tommies hit directly toward Rome.

(The Swiss radio reported that Allied troops were attacking at the eastern extremity of the beachhead and had reached Lake Di Fogliano, south of Littoria and only twenty miles from the main battle-line near Terracina.)

On the main Italian front Britons, Canadians and Poles of the Eighth army at the same time smashed furiously at the main Hitler line defenses in the Liri valley, thirty-five miles east of the beachhead, and American and French divisions battered ahead on a rugged front extending from Pico down to Terracina on the sea.

Greatest Allied Force

It was the greatest Allied striking force yet thrown into battle in this war outside the Russian front.

The foe, seventeen divisions strong, was known to have been committed to battle by Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring in the hope of staving off the disaster which Gen. Sir Harold Alexander promised him.

For the enemy it was the showdown. The Nazis were left without any reserves close at hand to throw into the battle. Kesselring could obtain reinforcements only by moving new divisions from far to the north over railroads and highways already badly battered by Allied air might.

The final battle for Rome might not be long delayed. Newly-prepared German defense lines along which the Allied command predicted the enemy would make his last stand before yielding the Eternal City is roughly only seven miles north of the beachhead perimeter.

Report Savage Attack

Powerfully reinforced during the past week, Allied men and armor on the beachhead struck out savagely an hour before dawn in the direction of Cisterna on the ancient Appian Way. Daniel De Luce of the Associated Press wrote from a forward field post:

"Trained especially with tanks for the past month, the doughboys swarmed across the flat, green no-man's land in the wake of scores of Sherman tanks, their guns blasting German fox-holes and weapon pits at point-blank range. With a heavy advantage in armor and artillery, the cooped-up beachhead troops went into battle vowing they would fight through to Rome before they finished."

"Despite scattered clouds and a low mist which combined with the smoke from guns and chemical machines to reduce visibility to less than a mile, Allied planes flew in at almost strafeing height to bomb the entrenched enemy."

A UNITED STATES FLYING Fortress BASE IN ENGLAND, May 23 (AP)—Sgt. Raymond Allen, 21, of Penna. Grove, N. J., radioman on a Flying Fortress, swung by his legs for nine minutes in an open bomb bay door today and held the spinning armament on a bomb to prevent it from exploding prematurely.

The Fortress was on a bombing run over the railyards at Epinal when Allen noticed the arming wire and fuse coming out of a bomb at the bottom of the bay. He grabbed a portable oxygen bottle and hung head down in the bomb bay with his legs entwined in the catwalks and grabbed the spinning vane. In peril of being pulled out of the open bay by the suction of the wind or of having an arm mangled, he held his position over the gaping doors for nine minutes until the bombs were released.

Allen—a veteran of eighteen missions over Europe and holder of the air medal with two oakleaf clusters—was hailed by his pilot, Capt. Joseph Nesmith of Live Oak, Calif., for "one of the most courageous acts I've ever seen."

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Two congressional committees today agreed down demands for specific inquiries into the CIO Political Action Committee and how it is operating in this election year.

Control of Conquered Jap-Owned Islands Is Favored by Public

Majority of Citizens Think It Is Necessary for National Security

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., May 23—Regardless of whether we have a League of Nations, the American people are anxious to promote any policy which will provide the maximum amount of military and naval protection for the United States after the war.

They want to make sure that America maintains a ring of well-defended outposts against the possibility of future attack.

While the people have had no ambitions for territorial conquest since the Spanish American war two generations ago, the overwhelming majority believe that the islands between Hawaii and the Philippines controlled by the Japanese before Pearl Harbor should be kept by the United States as a measure of national security.

Their attitude is revealed in the course of questioning by interviewers for the Institute on the general subject of the disposition of islands and atolls conquered from the Japanese by American soldiers or marines. When asked whether the United States should keep these

More than two-thirds of American voters polled by the Gallup Poll think that the United States should keep permanently all Japanese-owned islands in the Pacific which we conquer in this war.

Islands after the war, the public votes as follows:

YES 69%
NO 17%
UNDECIDED 14%

Some of the islands which we have invaded were, however, British possessions before they were seized by the Japanese early in this war. The Gilberts, for example, have been a British protectorate since 1892. Therefore the disposition of Tarawa in the Gilberts, which the United States Marines seized from the Japanese in 1943, would have to be a matter for settlement between Washington and London, and not between the Allies and vanquished Japan.

Issue of New Britain
Another issue which will inevitably rise after the war is the disposal of the large Pacific islands in the vicinity of Australia.

The island of New Britain, for example, where the Japanese hold Rabaul, was governed by Australia as a League of Nations mandate before the war. Many American servicemen have lost their lives on New Britain. Should the United States take over this island after the war or should it revert to Australia?

One solution which appeals to a substantial number of Australians is that New Britain should be governed by Australia and the United States together. A recent poll of public opinion in Australia found that nearly half the voters there approve this idea.

More about Swapping Horses in a Stream

THIS NEWSPAPER has pointed to the fact that President Lincoln, reputed author of the saying about swapping horses while crossing the stream, never hesitated to change horses when the national welfare and safety demanded it. He changed them frequently until he found the right kind of horses, just as the nation changed horses in the inception of the great Civil war when it sent Lincoln to the presidency. The historical reminder was made in view of the fact that the New Dealers and their huge army of federal pay-rollers are making use of the Lincoln saying in this campaign just as they did in the third-term campaign.

But the Lincoln practice was not the only one. There are numerous historical instances of horse-swapping while crossing streams made to great advantage.

In November, 1917, Georges Clemenceau took over the supreme command in France's darkest hour of the First World war, ousting the wabbling Malvy cabinet and organizing a real "Victory" cabinet.

In March, 1918, the Allies, in another dark hour—a black hour—displaced the generals in command and made Marshal Ferdinand Foch commander-in-chief of all the Allied armies, one of the most vital steps taken toward ultimate victory.

In December, 1918, the British king and Parliament ousted Herbert Asquith as prime minister and made Lloyd George supreme. The First World War began in 1914.

A strikingly comparable political situation to that which exists today obtained in 1918. President Wilson made a partisan political plea to the American people before the fall elections to give him a Congress that would uphold his policies — a rubber stamp Congress. Although this country was still at war, and there was uncertainty in the public mind as to how long it would continue, the voters of the United States answered by electing an anti-Wilson Congress. That is to say, they changed horses while yet crossing the stream. They objected to being told that there was an indispensable man in the White House, yet, despite the overwhelming defeat of all the Wilson policies in 1920, the United States went on to achieve greater and greater things along the path of its political destiny.

In the present global war, another vital change was made on the Allied side also in another dark hour. Great Britain had declared war on Germany (September 3, 1939), and thus had entered upon its greatest struggle for existence; but on May 10, 1940, it decided that changing horses in the middle of the stream was necessary, and it reformed its government entirely, making Winston Churchill prime minister, succeeding the appeaser Chamberlain.

But the present incumbent of the White House, who is being rated by his supporters as the indispensable man of the hour, himself repudiated that theory. In the course of a speech delivered April 18, 1932, at St. Paul, Minn., with particular reference to the horse-swapping idea.

"There will be many in this nation during the coming months," he said, "who will implore you not to swap horses while crossing a stream; there will be others who will laughingly tell you that the appeal should have been worded, 'Do not swap toboggans while you are sliding downhill.' But it seems to me that the more truthful, the more accurate, plea to the people of the nation should be this: 'If the old car, in spite of frequent emergency repairs, has been bumping along downhill on only two cylinders for three long years, it is time to get another car that will start uphill on all four.'"

The phrase "for three long years," should now read "for almost twelve long years," with which slight alteration the analogy is as applicable now, even more so, as it was when originally proffered.

The Dinner Table Is Due for a Change

AS YET those engaged in what is referred to in mercenary moments as "the food trade" haven't arrived at definite conclusions about trends in public preference after the war. They are convinced, though, that American eating habits will never be precisely the same again.

Under rationing shoppers were buying expensive coffee to get the most for their points. Since the abandonment of coffee rationing the cheaper brands have not returned to their former popularity. Domestic cheese consumption has declined. People spent their points for beef and butter.

Margarine has made heavy inroads on butter. Will cheese and butter regain lost ground? It took butter seven years after World War I to regain lost ground.

Prepared breakfast cereals and commercially baked goods are enjoying booms. Housewives are baking less than ever. Quick frozen foods are becoming popular, together with some of the dehydrated products. Pancake and waffle mixes are slumping because of the butter shortage. Spices are being purchased in record volume, presumably to ginger up drab wartime meals.

Some of the old-time culinary favorites such as steaks will rebound to their former popularity. But the postwar dinner table will not be the exact counterpart of the prewar family board.

Life Expectancy Is Lengthened

LIFE EXPECTANCY of babies born in America today is thirty-three years longer than it was in 1880, according to the records of health authorities. Tables have been worked out through 1940 which illustrate the increase in longevity.

In 1880 the life expectancy of newborn boys was twenty-nine years and of girls thirty-two years. Since then public health measures, advances in medical science and in the general standard of living have added approximately five years to life expectancy in each decade. In 1940 the male expectancy of life was sixty-two years and the female sixty-six years.

For both males and females, from birth through seventy years old, there have been consistent gains in life expectancy. The greatest gain has been made in the first year of life, reflecting progress made in safeguarding the newborn and in combating infant mortality.

For baby boys the percentage increase in life expectancy from 1901 to 1940 was fifty-three during the first year of life and for girls forty-eight per cent. Therefore the percentage increase declines steadily through life except for the period of fifteen to twenty-five years for boys and girls.

Washington Suffers A Case of Jitters

WASHINGTON has become a bundle of nerves. There is an air of irritability about the place. It hardly seems likely that it is all attributable to the invasion of Europe. For what is going on is hardly like war jitters.

The president was not talking about the war when he bitterly criticized the press and radio for what he said was a wrong report about the Montgomery Ward case.

Then came Chester Bowles, the price administrator, to warn that meat rationing probably would come back in thirty-sixty or ninety days.

"It's not going to be before the election," asked a congressman.

"I resent those remarks," shot back Mr. Bowles. "We're convinced the public knows we are operating on a clean basis."

Obviously, Mr. Bowles was cut to the quick, just as the president was annoyed by the Montgomery Ward case.

But these quivers are perhaps not vital to the nation's progress. The fidgets and the flusters and the windings of Washington are reminiscent only of an election year.

Strikes Are Linked To the Fourth Term

THE WAVE OF STRIKES now spreading throughout the war plants of the country is linked directly to the fourth term drive of the radical unions. All of the left-wing labor organizations, starting with the Communist party, have now endorsed Roosevelt for reelection.

The CIO Political Action Committee is busily engaged in the campaign to keep the New Deal in power, and Attorney General Biddle cannot find that this outfit is violating the law against labor unions engaging in political activities. The left-wingers feel, accordingly, that they can get whatever they go after.

Under the circumstances, there seems to be nothing that can be done. Roosevelt needs the votes of the left-wingers, and the war strikes are engineered and participated in by the radicals, not by Republicans.

This Tick of the Clock

By MARSHALL MASLIN

This tick of the clock is very important . . . or it is lightly trivial.

In this tick of the clock, everything happens.

In this second, somewhere an old man dies. An old woman sighs feebly and smiles farewell to her children. . . . A baby is born and sets forth on the long journey . . . is born too weak for the great adventure and turns its face away from it.

Or a brave man died for his country and his faith.

In this tick a great tree falls in the forest, crashes and destroys a dozen lesser trees. . . . Somewhere a seedling breaks through the dark earth and takes a green look around. . . . A boy becomes a man and announces his independence; a girl becomes a woman, falls in love. . . .

And in this tick of the clock, a man asks forgiveness, a woman grants it. . . . A man stakes all on his own courage, his own ability. . . . Another man says: "I give up, the odds are too heavy for me."

As this second moves on, somewhere a wriggling puppy or a laughing child comforts a mourning heart. . . . A mother worries, a father is proud. . . . A song is written, the last word of a long novel is set down. . . . A dream comes true, a skillful surgeon saves a life. . . . A tolling thinker solves his problem. . . . An egg is laid. . . . A mountain lion leaps upon the trembling deer. . . . A storm breaks, a rainbow shines. . . . The full moon floods the waiting earth. . . . A ship is wrecked and a man gives his life to save a friend.

This tick of the clock is everything or nothing. It is the end or the beginning. . . . It is joy or agony, fruition or sterility, hope or despair, beauty or ugliness, sweet or the bitter, glory or the shame, belief or denial.

This tick of the clock is good, bad or indifferent. . . . What is its meaning for you?

FDR Is Believed To Favor Wallace For Running Mate

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 23. — The guessing as to whether Mr. Roosevelt will pick Mr. Wallace as running mate again has been whetted somewhat lately in the congressional smoking cloisters, but it is a rather dull game.

The frequently publicized movements for Speaker Rayburn or Senator Barkley as replacements hardly represent any action or any attempt at organizing a fight, but rather the preferences of senators.

The AP and INS tried to conduct polls of the Senate, and found most Democratic legislators yawningly surmising Mr. R. would probably select Wallace as an offering to CIO, and that nothing they could do or say would make much difference. In fact, most Democratic politicians seem to have decided to watch their tongues most carefully, and thereby have created a strange situation, not unlike the period of frozen silence which prepared the way for the third term campaign.

CIO Committee Is Spending

On a free vote of the Democratic side of both Houses, either Rayburn or Barkley would run far ahead of Wallace. A few months ago, few legislators would have hesitated to say so.

At that time also, the CIO was highly unpopular. Since then, CIO has not changed, but its political action committee has started spending the $700,000 appropriated for the campaign with some successes in the primaries.

The fall of Starnes in Alabama and retirement of Dies has been followed by defeat of Costello (in the aircraft workers district in Los Angeles) and the defeat of Senator Holman for Republican renomination in Oregon.

Holman was defeated by a former public member of the War Labor Board, Wayne Morse, generally regarded around here as not unfriendly to CIO. The congressional interpretation is that the CIO went into the Republican primary, as there was no contest among the Democrats, and gave enough votes to defeat Holman, who was not especially popular anyway.

There is no ground for interpreting these events as reflecting any change of popular attitude in the nation as a whole toward CIO (the last measuring of popular sentiment nationally having been reflected in the Montgomery Ward case). But those who make Democratic politics their business have coupled these events with Mr. Roosevelt's determination (they think) to run and have thus pulled a blanket over their heads, to do any future business thereunder.

CIO Will Exert Pressure

Of course, CIO is a minority of a minority, the lesser part of the union labor movement, and these are thinly voted primaries. What force it could bring to bear in an election may be something else again.

For the present, it has at least $700,000 and an apparently ruthless determination to exert its fullest political pressure (even opposing at least one Democratic representative who has voted with labor on all except two or three remote issues).

Mr. Wallace is a leader of this group, in the sense that he chooses to act like a talking custodian for that residue of votes while Mr. Roosevelt is busy with the war.

In dispatching him to China, Mr. R. said he was "a messenger" not a high sounding title (others flying the same route have been called "ambassadors" and "emissaries"), but Mr. Wallace picked up the title proudly in a formal statement. He spoke in the cosmic grandeur of an oriental mystic with such sentences as:

"The future of China belongs to the world, and the world in justice and peace shall belong to China," whatever that means.

It would appear wiser for Mr. Roosevelt to stand with Wallace, but allow the party to fight for Rayburn or Barkley if it chooses.

GETS RESULTS

YOU'VE READ of the high toll our submarines are taking of Jap ships. Well, here's the man who is directing the campaign—Vice Adm. C. A. Lockwood, Jr., commander of the United States submarine force in the Pacific. He is a thirty-year member of the "silent service."

THE SUSPENSE IS TERRIFIC

Southern Democrats in Congress Are Concerned Over Recent Political News

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(not for Byrd who apparently wants no part of this head-butting business as his friends reported him displeased when a South Carolina friend elevated him to a leadership perch from which he might easily be dispossessed in the confusing predicament of the party.)

Roosevelt Holds Answer

The president already has the CIO which has no place else to go, but could gain votes and prestige by pleasing the Democratic party men who are awe-struck at the possibility of Wallace again, but realize Mr. Roosevelt has as close or a closer hold on the Democratic delegates to this next convention than he had on the last one when he nominated Wallace against the opposition of every other leader of the party.

Senator Truman, of Missouri, for instance, came back from Missouri and publicly announced himself for Rayburn.

If all this sounds somewhat perplexing, remember it is not new. (Lewis having played the CIO role for the second term and the American Labor party and CIO having played it jointly for the third term which similarly silently approached.) Otherwise, the story is still all in one man's mind, a mind which even Chairman Hannegan and Barkley in their public speeches are careful to say they do not know yet.

A Soldier's Watch

From the Christian Science Monitor

This is a little more on that serviceman who kept his watch on "our time," as he put it, so wherever he was he could follow the routine activities of his family home on the farm. The soldier explained that when his watch said five o'clock in the afternoon he knew Dad was on the way to the barn to "do the chores." Or, if the hands pointed to six o'clock, Mom was clanging the dinner bell for the men to come in for supper.

He didn't go into detail but one can assume that five o'clock by his watch means more than just "chore time." It means foaming pails of milk, the warm smell of the barn; the stamping of hoofs, creaking stanchions, rattle of halters, swish of tails.

If it's six, there's Mom over the big stove stirring-spoon in hand. Tea-kettles a-singing. Men scuffling from the sink, groping with puckered faces for the roller towel on the buttery door. Mom with starched apron ladling generous portions of food on crockery plates.

Then comes evening; eight o'clock, his watch says. Dad's in his sagging leather chair, head nodding over the morning—yes, the morning—paper. Mom is knitting and rocking in two-four time. Pal lies on the hearth dreaming doggy dreams.

Soldier, you've chosen a wise way of keeping home close to your heart. You know what you're fighting for. May your watch never run down!

Morning Motto

All noble enthusiasms pass through a feverish stage, and grow wiser and more serene.—CHANNING.

Millions Are Collected

Many millions of dollars have been collected by assessments, membership dues or otherwise from the labor union members throughout the country. This drive is, curiously enough, being assisted by the federal government itself which is using the armed forces of the United States to compel employers at the point of a bayonet to accept clauses in union contracts whereby members of the union cannot withdraw from such unions once they join. This helps increase the amount of dues collectable by the unions. Some of the constitutions of the unions do not permit withdrawal of members, and there is no statute which authorizes the War Labor Board or any other governmental agency to violate labor union contracts. There really is no authority in law either for the maintenance-of-membership clauses, but the president feels that he has sufficient power as commander-in-chief to use the bayonet to compel maintenance-of-membership in labor unions.

The Federal Corrupt Practices act was written originally many years ago by Congress to prevent the use of slush funds in political campaigns. It was aimed at corporations which used company funds to influence elections. The statute has been very effective in preventing corporate funds from being applied to elections. Although individual business men have made contributions of a limited nature out of their own pockets, corporate funds have pretty generally been kept out of the campaigns because of the Federal Corrupt Practices act.

Biddle Gives Ruling

Now, under a ruling by Attorney-General Biddle, it is apparent that any sum spent by corporations or labor unions in primary campaigns will not result in prosecution. The Federal Corrupt Practices act itself defines election as a "general or special election," but "does not include a primary election or convention of a political party." This means that the C. I. O. Political Action Committee can use its funds to enter primaries, especially in states where the outcome of a primary election is equivalent to the final ratification in the autumn election. The Southern Democrats are the ones who have the most to fear from the use of the C. I. O. union funds. Already a campaign fund of nearly one million dollars has been set aside by labor unions for "political action."

Congress, of course, can protect itself by adopting a statute at once to make the Federal Corrupt Practices act apply to primary elections as well as general elections, and it would not be surprising if something of this sort is done, though it may come only after a general inquiry by a congressional committee. The resolution is pending, and doubtless will be passed by the House very soon.

Can Pack Committee

The difficulty about a congressional committee investigation is that the administration can put rubber-stamp members into control of the committee. The usual congressional investigating committee consists of five members—two Republicans and three Democrats—but since the speaker of the House appoints whoever the administration wishes appointed, it means that almost any congressional investigation can be squelched at the outset. It may be that Speaker Rayburn, who comes from a state which is vitally interested in the C. I. O. Political Action Committee, may find it desirable to appoint committee members who are not going to whitewash the use of slush funds by labor unions in political campaigns, but this is the very question which is now being debated in the cloakrooms of Capitol Hill.

Eleven years ago when the Roosevelt administration came into power, it talked a good deal about driving the "money changers from the temple." It professed high ideals. It spoke of itself as a "liberal" administration. But it has turned out to be not a bit different from its Republican predecessors—ready and anxious to use political funds and public power to perpetuate itself in office.

Debt at War's End To Average $10,000 a Family

By SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL

When the war ends the national debt will average $10,000 per family. It will be twice the total assessed value of all taxable property in the United States.

If you own a home or farm assessed for taxes at $4,000, the average share of the debt against your property will be $8,000.

In 1943 we spent as much as in the first 150 years of the life of the Republic.

Since Mr. Roosevelt entered the White House (counting all sums requested by him) we will have obligated the country in an amount equal to all the wealth accumulated on this continent since Columbus found it. This, on the authority of the man who knows, Senator Byrd.

This means that in twelve years we will have incurred debt equal to the savings of 452 years—1492-1944.

The debt of my home city of South Bend is $2,570,000. By July 1 its share of the federal debt will be $151,136,000!

Brings the Debt Home

The present interest rate on the federal debt is about two per cent. South Bend's share of the interest alone will be $3,190,000 annually.

This is $620,000 more than the total municipal debt!

In interest alone, South Bend will have to pay more each year than its total city debt.

For less money, it could in one year wipe out its entire city debt. And once paid, that is paid forever. But its share of the interest on the federal debt will have to be paid each year.

Let's look at the debt load as it stands at this time and apply the figures to your home town. The per capita national debt is $15,113.60. Multiply your population by this figure and you will have your town's share of the federal debt on July next.

This brings the debt home.

In 1940 Texarkana had a population of 28,859. Its share of the federal debt on July 1 next will be $43,695,949. Its share of the interest charge will be $920,692 annually.

Federal Debt Dangerous

Your city will tell a similar story. I mention Texarkana because it is the home of Congressman Wright Patman who is one of those who thinks nothing of debt. He proposes to go right on going into debt when the war is over. The thought of putting any limit on debt and taxes is very obnoxious to him.

As our city fathers in council assembled voted bond issues against our homes of $50,000 or $100,000 at a time, they debated the matter for hours. Mass meetings often remonstrated against further debt and taxes.

But the federal debt is "different." Why is it different?

As a matter of fact, federal debt is far more dangerous than city or county debt. For the federal debt issues the money of its creditors, some 50,000,000 bondholders—you are one—whereas cities and counties are forbidden to issue money. Every city and county in America could go bankrupt (as 3,000 of them did since 1932) and the American dollar would still be good. Only the cities' creditors would lose. If the federal government, however, should ever falter in its obligations, the value of every investment, life insurance policy, social security card, etc., would melt away like snow.

Vote in Right Square

The war, of course, must be won, regardless of any necessary cost. But I am talking of postwar America, postwar spending and postwar spenders.

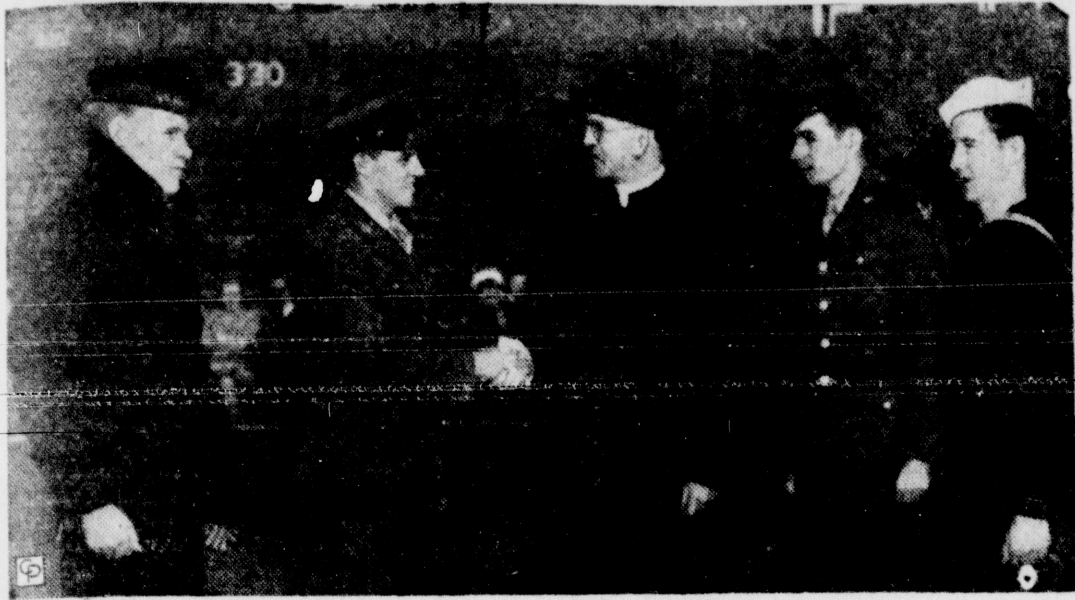

I want to see your war bonds paid with honest dollars, and your insurance policies and social security cards.

What about the spenders? Do they care what happens to you? People ask me—what can I do? The answer is simple. Put an X in the right square. But first get a good man's name in front of the square.

500 Former Orphans of Boys Town Are Fighting Stalwarts of Uncle Sam's Forces

By WILLIAM RUTLEDGE III
Central Press Correspondent

BOYS TOWN, Neb. — This is silver anniversary year at the world-famous "City of Little Men," haven of homeless and abandoned youngsters of the nation's highways and byways. They have refuge here under the direction of Father Flanagan, and run this community as a boys' democracy.

The sweep of the war has taken its toll of young citizens here. More than 500 of these poor and homeless boys qualified for roles in Uncle Sam's army, navy and marines.

Eighteen of them are now represented by gold stars on the service flag that flies over the town. Three of the boys are prisoners of war; while a number of them have received various citations for distinguished service and bravery.

The day after Pearl Harbor the town nearly enlisted en masse. Jimmy Ross, Hawaiian-born boy who had found refuge and a place in life within Father Flanagan's community, was so ignited by the treacherous attack on Pearl Harbor that by Monday he had talked most of his fellow citizens into joining the armed forces.

"We're all leaving to join the army," was the announcement young Ross made Monday morning, Dec. 8.

Argument Necessary
It took hard and fast lecturing and patient argument by Father Flanagan to convince them that they might best serve their country by continuing their education and development until they were called to the colors. Ross was a former mayor of Boys Town and he carried a lot of weight with the boys.

"The army needs men, not babies!" Father Flanagan shouted at them over the dinner table as whispering among the boys showed that the idea was not entirely abandoned. To quell the "uprising," the Father told his boys that he was going to Omaha on a trip and that he asked them as a favor to enter their decisions until he had returned.

The boys who still wanted to go even he returned were told to go right ahead. Ross was in the lead. He would not receive his diploma for another three months.

The school superintendent arranged for an accelerated schedule for Jimmy and he had his sheepskin when he left to join the Marine Corps. He has been serving in the South Pacific.

Looks to Peace
Father Flanagan takes a deep pride in the military performances of the boys he has salvaged for useful and constructive citizenship. But he looks forward to the inevitable coming of the peace.

"My boys will be coming home," he said, and looked far away as if he were trying to see each of the 500 boys, including the eighteen who had died. "I sincerely hope it will be an everlasting peace."

"We, on the home front, must back our fighting boys throughout the war. We must do everything in our power to preserve democracy and the American way of life for our boys when they return home."

"We must back our boys up who are giving their all there on the battlefronts by buying more and more War bonds. We must keep our spirits high and not let our boys down by not looking after their interests at home."

When they come home, they will need rehabilitation and they will need the education they dropped so suddenly and patriotically, he added.

INVASION BY AIR

INVASION SANDWICH—This chart shows the role Allied airpower will play when actual invasion of Europe starts.

By GLADWIN HILL

AP Features

ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, England—Want to take a peek ahead at the air end of the Western front assault?

If you will think of a club sandwich, and translate it into air-planes, with many kinds of planes stacked up layer on layer at different altitudes, it will be a fair cross-section of the air offensive around D-day.

The layers of planes won't all be present at once, because it wouldn't be good to have high-altitude bombers dropping their loads on a layer of medium bombers underneath. It is likely to be a fairly continuous progressive sandwich, with the top layer no sooner finished than the bottom layer starts the cycle again. The top layer will be high altitude bombers, like Fortresses and Liberators, probably covered with the mustard of escorting fighters up five miles or more.

The central layer, two to three miles up, will be medium bombers with fighter escort. And the bottom layer, from two miles altitude down to "the deck," will be fighter-bombers and fighters doing low-level skip bombing and strafing. As a combined air-ground-sea attack approaches, the heavy bombers hit targets like railroads feeding the enemy's front lines. Finally, they bombard the enemy's front lines just ahead of our own ground advance.

While this is proceeding, fighter-bombers and fighters clear the way for seaborne operations.

These planes, too, gradually close in on the enemy front lines, shooting up airfields and anti-aircraft positions and ultimately strafing

State To Provide Housing for Many Migrant Farm Workers

BALTIMORE, May 23 (AP)—Gov. O'Connor announced today that $10,000 has been allotted by the board of Public Works to sup-ment federal and private funds in providing housing for migrant farm workers in Maryland this summer.

The fund, distribution of which will be supervised by the Maryland Council of Defense, will assure the state of recruiting sufficient farm and cannery labor, Dr. T. B. Symons, head of the University of Maryland Extension Service, declared. Symons added that whatever portions of the $10,000 to be expended would be used to maintain the fifteen work camps that will be operated in various counties of the state.

The governor will be represented by Symons Friday at a conference of labor and agricultural leaders to be held at Raleigh, N. C. At the meeting, plans will be formulated to permit the flow of labor into those states of the Atlantic seaboard most acutely in need of help.

"Fully 14,000 additional laborers, many of whom are expected to come from other states, will be needed to harvest and process the crops this year," O'Connor said.

Eastern Railroads Get Coal from West

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Five railroads, for the first time in history, are hauling hundreds of carloads of midwestern soft coal eastward to burn in their locomotives.

Interior Secretary Ickes disclosed today.

He said the step was taken because of the growing shortage of eastern and Appalachian coal.

The railroads are the Chesapeake and Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York Central, Nickel Plate, and Pere Marquette.

Each of the thousands of U. S. Army supply vehicles in actual combat duty burns about 10 gallons of gasoline daily.

Rucker's Muff of Fly Gives Dodgers Win

BROOKLYN, May 23 (P)—Johnny Rucker's muff of Lloyd Waner's fly ball after colliding with Charley Mead gave Brooklyn two runs in the last of the ninth inning and a 3-2 victory over the New York Giants tonight. A crowd of 22,145 turned out for the first night game in the metropolitan area since 1941.

Pinch-runner Hal Gregg and Frenchy Bordagaray romped home when Rucker was unable to hold the ball and was charged with a two-base error.

Bill Voiselle held the Dodgers in check the rest of the way and had walked off the hill with an apparent victory when Waner lofted the short fly to right center.

43.4 per cent above the January 1, 1941 level.

Turned down, by committee action, was a resolution calling for women representatives on the executive board of the state body. Also defeated was a proposed change in the per capita tax rate which would place a $2.50 tax on locals having up to fifty members.

Supports Housing Program
To allow time for increased business, the convention decided to change from three to four days the duration of state conventions. The convention also went on record as supporting the Federal Housing program, and asked that the bottled gas industry if the state conform to the same regulations as gas and electrical utilities.

Unless we work together, the future cannot be advanced, Rabbi Abraham Shusterman, of Har Sinai Hebrew congregation, Baltimore, told the delegates yesterday afternoon in an urgent appeal for unity.

The Rev. John J. Russell, pastor of St. Ursula's Catholic church, Parkville, in referring to the AFL-CIO People's Peace plan, told the delegates that any peace plan which leaves out God cannot succeed. "With nations co-operating to secure security, livelihood and justice, peace, with God's help, can be achieved," he declared.

Dr. T. Guthrie Speers, pastor of Brown Memorial Presbyterian church, Baltimore, and a member of the regional War Labor Board, told the delegates that our actions now are determining the postwar period. We must have unity, he asserted, before we can have freedom, and warned against the formation of "hate groups" after the war is won.

Debate Is Heated
I. N. Orburn, Washington, secretary-treasurer of the Labor Trades department of the A. F. of L. told the delegates that, in spite of the fact that more manufacturers than ever are producing goods bearing union labels, stock in retail stores with union labels is low. This he attributed to the fact that companies that normally produced for the civilian trade are on war contracts.

Gilbert E. Hyatt, Washington, in a brief address, pleaded for greater participation in the Fifth War Loan drive, and praised labor for doing its part in the purchase of E. or "the people's bond."

Spirited debate from the floor of the convention followed the request of Howard Rollins, negro, Baltimore, American Federation of Musicians, Local 543, to have a resolution, calling for two extra vice presidents appointed to the state organization, acted upon by the body without submission to committee.

Since the resolution had to be presented before noon considerable urgency attended the discussion.

The attempt failed shortly before noon when the body refused, by a vote of ninety-six to eighty-five, to consider the resolution from the floor, and the resolution, calling for an increase from six to eight vice presidents, was referred to the laws committee.

Attendance Increases

Willie Pep Whips Joey Bagnato

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 23 (P)—Willie Pep, Hartford, Conn., boy is the New York state nominee in the world featherweight title, knocked out Joey Bagnato, 132½, Toronto, in one minute, three seconds of the second round of their scheduled round fight before 4,500 fans in Memorial auditorium tonight.

Pep, who weighed 128½, had a situation in hand throughout the brief encounter. He took charge of the first round with a series of darting left-hands which kept Bagnato on the face and back.

Then, in the second round, he corked power in his right hand, belied his slender physique, cracked a right-hand punch flush with Bagnato's jaw, and dropped him for the count.

It was a non-title fight, both coming in over the 126-pound featherweight limit.

Red Rosette Annexes Charles Town Feature

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., May 23 (P)—J. L. Friedman's Red Rosette charged through the streets today to win the sixth and final race on the Charles Town program.

The five-year-old daughter, Boatswain, twice a winner at Pocomoke, was aroused in the home lane by Jockey Martin Bietzacker and on with a rush to gain a half-length margin over Pearson and Shari Discretion. Scotch Flag was a taw third in the field of four.

Discretion was the favorite of a crowd of approximately 4,000 persons, with Red Rosette the choice, returning $5.60 for $2. He covered the six and a half furlongs in 1:19 3-5, only a second off track record.

Bietzacker rode three winners during the day.

Germany Reports American 'Chutist Landing in Italy

LONDON, May 23 (AP)—Nazi-controlled radio said tonight that

"American parachutists jumped in the Anzio beachhead attack, but German positions are intact." The broadcast, from Berlin and Paris, quoted Reinhardt Albrecht, a German war reporter. It was not specified in what area of the beachhead the American parachute troops were used or how many participated.

Albrecht was quoted: "A general offensive against all German fronts in Italy had been launched with unequalled fierceness. Drums of enemy artillery continued without interval. Concentrated fire from Allied naval guns joins in."

New Income Tax Bill Passed and Sent to F.D.R.

President Seems Sure To Sign It

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The streamlined income tax bill, designed to bring about "taxation without irritation" for 50,000,000 persons, was approved finally by Congress today, and sent to the White House.

The measure passed unanimously in both houses—the first time in the memory of lawmakers that a major tax bill has received such emphatic approval. It went to the president as the House, on motion of Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the Ways and Means committee, accepted technical Senate changes.

Reshuffles Tax Structure
The legislation reshuffles the entire income tax structure, repealing the wartime "victory" tax and setting up new normal and surtax rates and exemptions—while keeping actual tax burdens at substantially their present levels for most people.

However, it did not pass without a floor fight. Rep. McLean (R-NJ) renewed his assertions that it is not merely a simplification bill but a revenue-raising measure. McLean said it would increase individual income taxes by $2,000,000,000.

Doughton vigorously disputed this, citing figures to show that the treasury actually would lose $60,000,000 of the $17,000,000,000 now collected from individuals.

Terms of Measure
The measure, virtually certain of presidential approval, would:

1. Provide that some 30,000,000 wage and salary earners, with incomes up to $5,000, no longer will be required to file income tax returns.
2. Change completely the withholding levy against wages and salaries—effective next January 1—to deduction currently the full liability thus beginning in 1945, these taxpayers would owe the government nothing at the year end. (There would be no change in the payroll deductions for taxes this year.)
3. On 1944 income, a shortcut is provided for these 30,000,000 taxpayers. The government would compute their taxes for them.
4. Simplified procedures are set up for the 20,000,000 who still must file returns. These are persons with incomes above $5,000 and all taxpayers with earnings over $100 yearly from sources other than wages and salaries.

Payment Due March 15
For these, the new system of normal and surtaxes will be applicable for returns filed next March 15 on 1944 income.

The bill retains as regular income tax payers some 9,000,000 persons now paying the victory tax but whose income is not enough to come under present levies. Their debt under the revised law will just about equal their present liability under the victory tax.

About 150,000 new taxpayers are added, these being in the income group between $555 and $624 annually.

The legislation does not disturb the $1,500 special exemption allowed men and women in the armed forces in addition to their regular family status exemptions.

The president's yacht, the Poto-mac, is the fourth ship in naval history to bear that name.

Baltimore Will Take Lead in Honoring Morse

BALTIMORE, May 23 (AP)—World-wide observance of the one hundredth anniversary of the proving of Samuel F. B. Morse's telegraph will center tomorrow in Baltimore and Washington, the first cities to be linked by telegraph.

Highlighted by the re-enactment of the sending of the first message from Washington to Baltimore, in which the same instruments will be used as were employed May 24, 1844, the anniversary celebration will be an all-day affair.

Roy Barton White, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, will open the observances by his purchase of the first sheet of special Morse centennial stamps at the Baltimore postoffice.

Use Special Stamps
Neal A. Sibley, postmaster, said today that some 50,000 Baltimore philatelists already had honored the inventor by mailing letters which called for the special stamps, effective only after White's purchase is made, and an equal number were expected to be received tonight.

Baltimore and Washington have the privilege of using the stamps first before they are released for general sale.

Formal celebration of the centennial will begin in Washington where a plaque honoring Morse will be unveiled in the capital rotunda by Miss Leila Livingston Morse, granddaughter of the inventor.

The re-enactment of the sending of the first message will follow the unveiling Ernest Norris, president of the Southern Railroad, will send the words "what God hath wrought," and the message will be received at the old Mt. Clare station of the B. and O. Railroad in Baltimore.

World Relay Planned

As the message is sent, the army signal corps will pick it up to be relayed around the world and the navy will transmit it to ships at sea. In conjunction with the Mt. Clare celebration, where another plaque honoring Morse will be unveiled, the B. and O. will have several of its historic engines on display with employees in appropriate costumes at the controls.

The main feature of the centennial afternoon program will be the launching of the liberty ship, Samuel F. B. Morse, at the Bethlehem-Fairfield Shipyard.

A meeting of the Maryland Historical Society tomorrow night will conclude the anniversary celebration in Baltimore. Dr. Frank B. Jewett, chairman of the Bell Telephone laboratories and president of the National Academy of Sciences, will address the meeting which was planned in commemoration of the centennial.

Robertson Calls "Convention"

Robertson, reportedly leading a move to displace Tait as chairman of the State Central committee, and avowedly a candidate for the post of national committeeman, called a "convention" of delegates from the third and fourth districts last night at which a slate of pro-Robertson national convention delegates were named.

This morning a faction of anti-Robertson men from the Third district met and elected a separate slate of delegates.

Both slates were presented to the convention and a long, involved verbal battle ensued.

The issue finally was resolved when the convention voted, 102-45, to send both slates of delegates—giving each man one-half vote each. The vote followed assertions by Robertson partisans that they were within their legal rights to elect delegates in caucus last night and the threat to appeal the matter to the national convention.

The Fourth district slate prepared last night was elected without opposition.

Tait To Hold Post

The vote on the Third district delegate wrangle was taken by most observers to indicate that Robertson's chances of being elected national committeeman—an action to be taken by the national convention delegation—were slim indeed and that Tait's retention of the State Central committee chairmanship was assured.

Dirksen said in his keynote address that the major issue before the country in the impending national election was collectivism versus freedom.

"The real issue is the preservation of human dignity, personality, and the moral basis upon which it rests. To abandon even a small part of the freedom we have known and which accounts for the greatness and leadership of this land is to abandon the greatest spiritual adventure of civilization," he said.

"From ringside seats, we are watching the destruction of the republic, the impairment of freedom, and the abandonment of the American way of life in a turbulent hour when young men die for freedom. What do we propose to do? It is later than you think."

Address by Judge Sloan
Retired Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan of the Maryland court of appeals, permanent convention chairman, delivered an impassioned address in which he shouted "we've got to get rid of that Roosevelt gang."

"This is a contest not between political parties but between the United States and the present incumbent of the White House."

Tait, recounting the list of Republicans who have been elected to political office ranging from senator and governor to members of the general assembly, said "what has been done can be done again, and, in fact, is well under way."

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have poor digestion? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel headachy after eating? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you get sour or upset easily? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel tired—listless? ☐ YES ☐ NO

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested, lie sour and heavy within you.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's, taken as directed, aid digestion after Nature's own order. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—only 25¢. You'll be glad you did.

Piedmont High Graduating Class Hears Dr. Church

College Head Condemns Lack of Interest in Voting Rights

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN
WESTERNPORT, May 23.—Twenty-seven young people were graduated at the commencement exercises of Piedmont high school at the school auditorium, last night.

Dr. E. E. Church, president of Potomac State college, Keyser, who delivered the address discussed "Living in A Streamlined World".

He reviewed the mechanical developments of the last twenty years. He said twenty years ago the first political convention was broadcast.

In the recent state primary in Maryland only seven per cent of the citizens qualified to vote did so and in the West Virginia primary only a minority of the voters participated. If we do not do any better than that we are headed for a fall and a hard fall Dr. Church declared.

The invocation was given by the Rev. James L. Robertson, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, Piedmont; salutatory was by Helen Mary Graham; valedictory by Jeanne Cross Feaster. The orchestra directed by Miles T. Haran played; the girls chorus sang and the benediction was given by the Rev. Robert L. Vining, pastor of Presbyterian church, Piedmont.

Wins Balfour Medal

The Balfour medal given by Balfour company, of Attleboro, Mass., for scholarship, loyalty, achievement and participation in school activities, was presented to Jeanne Cross Feaster by principal Harold K. Carvey. She also was presented with a one year subscription to the Readers Digest which the company gives every year to the valedictorian of every graduating class of the United States. A scholarship to Davis and Elkins college was presented to Helen Mary Graham.

John C. Boor, member of the Mineral County Board of Education presented diplomas to the following graduates: Harry Lee Bane, James Joseph Barretto, Cecil DeLange Bateson, Joann Bell, Sue Margaret Bell, Gladys Geneva Cayton, James Robert Chapman, Jr., Ellen Marie Domenick, Kathryn Colleen Donnelly, Mary Elizabeth Paris, Jeanne Cross Feaster, Helen Mary Graham, William Troxell.

Kirke L. Simpson Says: Deadly Allied Trap Menaces Nazi Troops on Sector South of Rome

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The ponderous upper pincer of a deadly Allied trap in Italy is rolling northeastward from the Anzio beachhead, threatening the reeling Germans with more than the loss of Rome. It is aimed at cutting off all Nazi troops south of Rome from direct escape northward or into the mountains that form the spine of the Italian peninsula.

The point of the main Allied attack in the north apparently is Cisterna, road and rail junction on the Appian Way at the northeast corner of the Anzio beachhead. The town is also the indicated anchor point for the right wing of the last potential German defense front south of Rome.

Fifth Army's Plans
A Fifth army break-through, to seize it and push beyond into the Sacco valley, would knife across the via Cassina, inshore main road between Rome and Naples, far in rear of Nazi forces battered by the Fifth and Eighth army more than fifty miles to the south in the lower Liri valley. It would leave the enemy no choice but a quick flight from the Terracina-Piedmonte front in the south.

The fact that the Allied drive in the north is being directed by General Mark Clark, Fifth army commander, indicates the importance of the lunge from the Anzio beachhead.

The probable final line of Nazi resistance below Rome runs through that saddle from Panestrina or Genazzana in the mountains north of the Sacco, through Valmontone, Artena and Valleria to Cisterna. Fifth army capture of Cisterna would turn the right flank of that line even before the enemy could reach it from the south for a stand.

Germans Weakening
There is every indication that German power of resistance in central Italy is close to the breaking point. The prelude there to the combined Russian-Allied east-west attack is close to its crisis and at the moment filled with disastrous portents for the German high command.

The decision of Hitler's commanders not to dissipate their strategic reserves to reinforce the Italian front in the face of impending Russian and Allied blows elsewhere is being put to a stern test. A rushing defeat of the Nazi army in Central Italy would prove a drain on enemy morale in the field and on the home front.

Mrs. Miller Testifies Dr. Lind Reached For Pistol First

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Marguerite Miller, 42, buxom and blonde, testified today that Dr. John E. Lind, noted psychiatrist, threatened her 67-year-old husband, Robert I. Miller, and reached for a pistol before Miller shot him in a struggle to remove her forcibly from Lind's automobile.

Her testimony as first defense witness in Miller's murder trial, thus supported one half of a twin plea set up in an opening statement by H. Mason Welch, defense counsel, who told the jury that Miller shot in self-defense and, moreover, that he was crazed by weeks of worry over "the unlawful and illicit relationship between his wife and Lind."

Sweeping Changes In Communications Act Suggested

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Sweeping changes in the communications act, including one to prohibit commercial sponsorship of any news broadcast, were proposed to the Senate Interstate Commerce committee today in a bill submitted by Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont.) and acting Minority Leader White (Me.).

The proposals evoked a storm of protest within the closed meeting.

Action on the most controversial items, Wheeler told reporters, was postponed until next Wednesday to allow time for study of the bill.

Wheeler said the provision to force networks or stations to stand the expense of news broadcasts by commentators and analysts was broad enough to ban commercially-sponsored factual news broadcasts.

Chrysler Strike Is Called Off
DETROIT, May 23 (AP)—A sudden about-face by the leadership of local 490 of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), acting under pressure from highest authorities of the International Union, brought an end today to the week-old Chrysler Corp. strike.

As the first of nearly 12,000 affected employees returned to their war jobs, however, top councils of the UAW-CIO insisted on going through with tomorrow's scheduled hearing at which local 490's officers must "show cause" for the strike.

Need for Unity, Love and Liberty Is Stressed Here

Minister, Priest and Rabbi Speak at Joint Meeting of Civic Clubs

The need of working together, the spirit of brotherhood, charity and love and the necessity of keeping our liberty were stressed at a joint meeting of Rotary Kiwanis and Lions in Central YMCA yesterday at noon under the sponsorship of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Inc.

The three speakers, who were introduced by Alvin J. Miller, director of the Chesapeake area of the council, were Dr. Abraham Shusterman, the Rev. Dr. John J. Russell, and Dr. Thomas Guthrie Speers.

Dr. Shusterman said that all three men were loyal to their own religion and that each believed the other was loyal to his own faith, and that all stand four-square on their religious views.

No Monopoly on Good
The Rabbi said that no religious or racial group has a monopoly on good or evil, but that there was reason for respect, admiration and co-operation of all groups, adding that "we need to work together in the spirit of brotherhood and brotherly love."

He declared there are areas outside the church where co-operation is badly needed, and added that "we must stand together. Unity is the keynote for strength in American life. America needs all of us standing together."

Father Russell said that charity and love are the basic principles of social order and said they must begin in the home. "We can't find charity flourishing in the world unless it is found in the home," he asserted.

The speaker said that Christians sometimes fail but that Christianity never fails, and added that there is no such thing as national hate. He asserted that nations cannot hate nations, but he said groups can hate groups, classes can hate classes and peoples who make up nations, can hate.

Unity Termed Necessary
Dr. Speers spoke on liberty and methods of preserving it, pointing out that we fail to recognize a great deal of the time that something comes before liberty. That, he said, is unity. He told his audience that it was true in families, true in industries and true in nations.

The minister said he believed all three major branches of religion in this country can make a tremendous effort toward the goal of unity. No privileged few, he asserted, can hold liberty for themselves, and they cannot keep liberty unless they share it, he added.

Peoples in Europe, Dr. Speers said, traded their freedom for what they thought would be economic security. They were more interested in where their food was coming from than freedom, he said, adding that before we have liberty and keep it we must have unity.

MacArthur Keeping Japan Informed on American Activity

WITH ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, AP.—More and more the communications of Gen. MacArthur are assuming the attitude of, "well, Japan, this is exactly how it is being done; so what are you going to do about it?"

It is unusual for communiques to state specifically what airfields are the takeoff points for raids.

Recently, MacArthur has been specifying Emirau in the St. Matthias islands as the base for planes hitting New Ireland. Today, he named that base as the one which joined from the north with planes from Solomons to the south in pounding Rabaul.

To top it off, he wound up his communiques this way: "Truk: Oud Admiralty-based air patrols bombed Truk before dawn."

Wakde Americans Expand Bridgehead

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, Wednesday, May 24.—(AP)—American Sixth army forces pressing toward two Northern New Guinea airfields have expanded their bridgehead at the mouth of the Tor river opposite captured Wakde island, Gen. MacArthur announced today.

Reinforcements have reached the Americans, largely from transport planes which are using the Wakde airstrip.

Heavy bombers hitting to the west dumped 150 tons of bombs on Biak island in the Southern group to the north of Geelvink bay, leaving towering fires.

Invasion Weather "Clear and Cool"

LONDON, May 23 (AP)—The weather of Dover strait tonight was clear and cool, with the water smooth and visibility fair.

There was some low mist, after a mid-day shower.

A northwest wind swung to the southwest at dusk, blowing lightly. A high barometer climbed a few more points. The temperature at 10:30 p. m. (4:30 p. m., eastern war time) was 41 and tending downward.

High tide at Calais tomorrow will come at 2:04 a. m., and 2:45 o. m. (8:04 p. m. (Tuesday) and 8:45 a. m., (eastern war time).

Red Army Troops Keep in Training

Visit Nazi Trenches Seeking Information

LONDON, Wednesday, May 24 (AP)—Daring Red army patrols are jumping right into German trenches in search of information for the coming offensive, Moscow reported today, although there were few other signs of a major new break on the Eastern front.

Southwest of Tiraspol a Russian reconnaissance party wiped out nearly a company of Nazis in hand-to-hand fighting and took dozens of prisoners, the Moscow radio said in its midnight supplement to the regular communiqué, recorded by the Soviet monitor.

In another sector Red artillerymen battered concentrations of German troops and "inflicted heavy losses on the enemy," said the supplement. It added that snipers west of Moxyr reported killing "dozens of Hitlerites."

Two hundred more Germans were declared killed southeast of Stanislawow, in Old Poland, when Red army units captured a height "dominating the locality" and beat off German counter blows.

Most of the ground activity reported in the supplement was in the south, but airmen of the Red fleet on Monday sank two German transports—one of 6,000 tons and the other of 3,000 tons—in the Gulf of Finland.

Resolutions Adopted
The series of "regular" resolutions gave national convention delegates no specific instructions as to presidential and vice-presidential nominees; condemned strikes by employees and employers; opposed federal legislation seeking to take over any functions of the state; instructed national convention delegates to oppose any proposal to "bring about social equality"; favored a constitutional amendment to make the qualifications for supreme court membership the same as for president; condemned creation of additional boards, bureaus and commissions; disapproved the supreme court decision permitting negroes to vote in Texas primaries; and directed delegates to work for restoration of the two-thirds vote rule for nominating presidential and vice-presidential candidates.

PRESENT EVENTS CAST A SHADOW

THOSE WORRIED LOOKS on the faces of Hitler and his Air Marshal Hermann Goering are undoubtedly prompted by the present and expected events on the continent of Europe. Taken from a captured German film and incorporated in March of Time's "Underground Report," the photo shows the Nazi bigwigs in what may be termed their "escape" train; the car in which they are believed to leave Berlin every night to duck Allied bombings.

Frostburg Club Gets Information On Ship Library

Interest Shown In Plan To Stock Craft With Reading Matter

By KUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, May 23 — Letters received here during the past month from a New York concern, suggesting that the citizens of Frostburg raise $875 to purchase a library for one of the new Victory ships to be named "Frostburg Victory," aroused considerable interest in the community.

With a view of securing more information as to how books are made available for men at sea, a committee from the Frostburg Rotary club contacted the American Merchant Marine Library Association, New York, which has supplied American seamen with reading matter, on a circulation basis, for over twenty years.

Their procedure is to place one or more library chests on a ship. These chests are in wooden boxes, or fibre cartons, each containing forty or more books, together with bundles of from seventy to one-hundred magazines, the books and magazines being contributed by the general public and stamped with the name of the association.

When the ship returns to any port where the Association has an office, upon request of the crew for a new library, the library chests are exchanged and the returned books made ready for another ship. This is the association's regular service, but since the beginning of the war a new development has arisen, which has come about through the chartering of ships and also the memorial tour.

The association is meeting the new situation by placing a memorial plate on the cover of the library chest for a contribution of not less than $50, but there would be no cost for the books, which are contributed to the association through regular channels.

The association states that it has not found it practical to have a boat equipped with 200 or more books, for the reason that they would finally depreciate, having no way of being replaced, and would not carry out the essential idea of their circulation among other ships.

The Rotary club committee was informed that libraries are not usually placed on the ship at the time of launching, but at the time of commissioning when the ship is chartered to some steamship company for actual operation.

The initial trip of libraries, furnished by the association, would be made on the ship to which it is dedicated, but no promise is made that it would get back again on the same ship, once it has been exchanged. From then on it would continue to circulate to other ships until it is destroyed or lost.

Thomas Aviator Destroys Nazi Plane in Fight

Second Lt. Frank A. Hervatine Participates in Raid over Germany

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSNONG, May 23 — Second Lt. Frank A. Hervatine, Thomas, W. Va., has been officially credited with the destruction of a German aircraft while participating in an Eight air force bombing attack on warplane plants at Rostock, Germany.

Lt. Hervatine, bombardier of the Flying Fortress "Little Boy Blue," is credited with shooting down a Pocke-Wulf 190.

"It was on the way out, about five minutes from the target," he said. "You could see them four or five miles ahead of us forming. It took them about thirty seconds to reach us after they formed. The closing speed must have been 600 or 700 miles an hour. Eight of them came in head-on, and abreast. They got no bombers of our group. I picked out the one dead ahead. His shots were low, coming just under our right wing. My 'fifties' hit him, and I could see him smoking. Then the ball turret man saw his wing come off. The pilot didn't get out — at least nobody saw him."

Lt. Hervatine is a son of Mrs. Frances Mekus, Thomas. He was secretary in the engineering department of the Carbide and Carbon Chemical Corporation, in Charleston, before entering the AAP, in January 1942. He was commissioned Feb. 13, 1943. He attended Mountain State Business college, in Parkersburg. News of his bagging the plane came from England.

Draft Boards Will Help Discharged Vets Find Jobs

BALTIMORE, May 23 (AP)—Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state draft director, said today that local draft boards are preparing to aid discharged Maryland service men and women in returning to civilian occupations.

He reported that a state-wide organization was being set up under the recently appointed veterans advisory committee to aid the returned veterans.

The services of this committee, already functioning, will be expanded and co-ordinated to handle the huge job of assisting the thousands of war veterans who will be returning to civilian life after the current conflict is over. The group will work in co-operation with the city and county veterans assistance committees.

If the returning veterans wish to return to their former job, the local board will aid him to do so and will see that he is treated according to the provisions of the Selective Service act, which entitles him to reinstatement in his former position or one of like seniority, status and pay.

In a case where an ex-serviceman or woman does not have a job to re-

"Swing Fever" Opens at Maryland Tomorrow

KAY KYSER is putting his band through a last minute rehearsal for one of the musical numbers in a scene from M-G-M's "Swing Fever" coming tomorrow to the Maryland theater. Suddenly a melody of the sourest notes in musical history emanates from the brass section.

"Who did that?" asks the astonished Kay.

"We did," is the answer from two musicians in the back row. "We can't play your music. It isn't up to our great high standards."

For a moment Kay is nonplussed. Then he is introduced to the gentleman with the trombone as Tommy Dorsey and the trumpet player as Harry James.

Without cracking a smile, the two pranksters march indignantly off the bandstand.

"He'll never get anywhere!" says Tommy.

"You're right," adds Mr. James. "He looks too much like Kay Kyser!"

New Comedy Romance Coming to Liberty

On a stage representing the drawing room of the fabulously rich Winthrop family of New York—vast as a theater lobby, and lavishly decorated—Robert Paige enters, garbed as a jungle savage. His tawny skin is set off by a black, Indian-style wig. His gawdy arm bands, anklet bells tinkling at each step, and a prismatic equivalent of a head hunter's sarong, make the actor a show to behold.

It is but one of the incredibly hilarious scenes in Universal's new comedy romance, "Her Primitive Man," starring Paige and Louise Allbritton, opening at the Liberty theater on Thursday.

Murmuring a greeting in jungle double-talk, Paige presents Miss

Allbritton with a shrunken human skull, presumably the head of her fiance. She shrieks for help, jumps on to the sofa. This unorthodox gift sends the a sofa.

The LaSalle High Explorers, working behind Jack Kauffman's superb one-hit pitching, turned back the Fort Hill High Sentinels 5-3 yesterday afternoon at Fort Hill to clinch the 1944 city scholastic baseball championship and gain permanent possession of the Times-News trophy.

Kauffman, in winning his third game of the season, also kept the Explorers in the race for the Bi-State Conference championship. Last spring, LaSalle and Fort Hill shared the city and conference diadems.

Following the contest, Brother Justin, LaSalle coach, revealed that he had asked his Blue and Gold tossers to "win this one" for George Geatz, now serving with Uncle Sam's forces in the South Pacific. Geatz, who would have been eligible to play on the Explorer nine this season, was elected captain last year but was drafted soon after passing his eighteenth birthday.

No Hits, Two Runs

Except for the two innings in which Fort Hill scored its runs, Kauffman received good support. It was "three up and three down" in all except the third, when the Sentinels manufactured two markers, and the sixth, when the Hillmen accounted for their third and final tally on Tevis Durbin's triple, the only blow yielded by Kauffman, and an error by Tommy Geatz.

Big League Ball Parks To Remain Open on D-Day

Racing and International Loop Will Postpone Activities

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK, May 23 (P)—Major league and Pacific Coast League baseball parks will be kept open on D-day but International League plants will shut down for the day at the announcement that the Allies have begun their invasion of Europe, the Associated Press learned today.

No decisions have been reached in the Southern and American Associations.

While both the big leagues will play on D-day their games will be marked with simple, brief ceremonies.

Landis Urges Ceremony

"I have suggested to the National League clubs," said President Ford Frick, "that if the announcement of the invasion is received just prior to a game or while play is on that all persons in the park pause for silent prayer and the playing of the National Anthem."

William Harridge, president of the American League, said in Chicago he would issue a similar suggestion. Commissioner K. M. Landis said "that an appropriate ceremony should be held and I'm open for suggestions what to do—but as far as I know churches, theaters, banks, department stores all will be open on invasion day and I don't see why baseball should shut down for the day."

Both President Roosevelt and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, recently suggested that citizens go to their homes or churches for prayers when the invasion announcement is made.

Race Tracks To Close

New York, Illinois and West Virginia race tracks already have announced that if the D-day word is received before a crowd has gathered at the tracks, the program will be postponed. If the day's program already is under way, it will be completed quickly and the next day's card postponed twenty-four hours.

Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League, disagrees with the other baseball officials.

"I have two sons over there. When the invasion is announced I won't have much interest in baseball. I'm going to church and then home and I believe a lot of other people will feel that way. I am suggesting to my clubs that they postpone the game if the announcement comes early enough, suspend the contest if word comes after play has started."

"Bummy" Davis Kayoes Sabatelle in Third

NEW YORK, May 23 (P)—Al (Bummy) Davis, 142, Brooklyn, knocked out Charley Sabatelle, 145½, Scranton, Pa., in 1-13 of the third round at the Broadway arena tonight. The fight was scheduled for eight rounds.

The kayo came when Davis caught Sabatelle in the stomach with a right and followed it with a left hook to the jaw.

Victory Junior Loop Will Meet Tonight

Reorganization of the Victory Junior Baseball League will be discussed at a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the K. of C. home. It is understood that at least four groups are interested in sponsoring clubs and will be represented at the session. The circuit operated as a twilight loop for boys of scholastic age last season with four teams in the fold.

Season's Leading Puzzle

Any expert who can untangle the growing snarl of the three-year-olds this summer, no matter where the track is, should draw some sort of a medal. As two-year-olds they were in-and-out lot, largely out, and this condition still remains, barring only Pensive.

All of this naturally has the horse players in what is technically known as a dither. They are like bees or butterflies who are not sure whether the blossom is full of honey or cyanide.

For example there is the recent Withers. One of the starters was a horse known as Broadcloth. I saw Broadcloth win the derby preview going away with a mile in 1:37 and the track was none too fast. A few days later, Broadcloth ran second to Pensive in the derby and might have won if George Woolf hadn't barged over to let McCreary and Pensive through.

Naturally Broadcloth was made a favorite for the Withers. You recall what happened. Broadcloth ran so far back you couldn't see him with two Lick telescopes against a mile in 1:38. And he happened to be many lengths back of the winner, Who Goes There, who in his last start had run as badly as Broadcloth had run well.

All of this makes betting at the tracks a more exciting adventure, but it also adds more than a mere touch of the heebie-jeebies to the baffled multitudes, who can no longer play favorites and feel fairly certain of the result.

There is Rodney Stone who beats Platter, one of the best, only to finish deep in the shadows of the Withers. These are only a few stray examples of the turmoil that is taking place.

In Pensive and Twilight Tear, the Calumet reservation has the call with many leagues to spare so far as consistency goes. In the older handicap, ranks, Greentree stable has another standout in Devil Diver. But outside of a limited number there are no others one can support with any confidence.

The Jittery Players

From now on there will be much more shopping around among the longer prices. There will be fewer false favorites. But as one morning-line expert said to me—"You've got to have some horse for a favorite although you know that in place of being two to one he might as well be six to one."

No one can say yet how long this shifting form will last as long shots roll in and shorter prices roll out. It is still a carry-over from last season when Occupy won the rich futurity and then finished last in his next start.

There has always been what you might call a "slight element of chance" in this racing game, but the element now is no longer slight. The mutual window assaulters, shying away from favorites in many cases, look to the boards for three or four selections that range from favorites in many cases, look to the boards for three or four selections that range from 12 to 20 to 1.

This is where the strain on the nerves enters. They don't know which one to shoot at, so they often compromise by playing them all.

Others have adopted the system of playing jockeys, such as Longden, Arcaro, Permaine and Atkinson. But even these find horses willing to run at one start and completely unwilling to hurry at the next.

Strangely enough two disappointing two-year-olds from 1943, Ramilies and Boy Knight, have come back bounding, greatly improved over last year's form. They came scurrying home at 25 to 1 and 20 to 1, on the third day of the Belmont meeting, a heavy jolt to those who recalled how poorly they had run before.

All of this uncertainty has helped increase the betting side. In a ten or twelve-horse race, there are now six or seven horses who have a chance as the shoppers plunge to their work up and down the line.

It will be interesting to see what happens when the bigger stakes, from $50,000 to $85,000 come around. A lot of this interest will be thrown around Pensive and Twilight Tear, to say nothing of such two-year-olds as Flood Town, Forum, Jeep and a few more who have shown better than average promise.—North American Newspaper Alliance.

Chicago U. Quits Sports Picture

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, May 23 (P)—The University of Chicago, which quit intercollegiate football in 1939, today withdrew from all athletic competition in the Western Conference through 1945 because of manpower shortage.

The announcement was made by Aaron J. Brumbaugh, dean of students, who forwarded the university's decision to the Western Conference Faculty committee which meets Friday in Chicago.

The decision was reached after university athletic officials doubted that Chicago would have sufficient students eligible for competition next year to organize teams and figured that it would be unfair to the conference if the university was included in the schedules.

This is the first complete break-away in athletic competition in the Big Ten, the nation's major conference.

Chicago's withdrawal will mainly concern Big Ten basketball which will be satisfactory to several Big Ten coaches who have maintained that competition offered by the school in the last five years has been wholesome neither for Chicago or its opponents. The Maroons have not won a conference cage game in four seasons and this spring their baseball team again is in last place without a victory.

Facilities at the University of Chicago will remain open for use of Big Ten teams in championship competition, Dean Brumbaugh said.

New York City recently received the first carload of horseshoe nails shipped into it in more than a century.

Walker Hitting Ball at .421 Clip

NEW YORK, May 23 (P)—Brooklyn loses ball games, Leo Durocher blows his top but Dixie Walker today continued to make the big noise in the National League with his .421 batting average.

Walker enjoys a fifty-seven-point bulge on runnerup Stan Musial of the Cardinals in the base hit derby with Tommy Holmes, of Boston, at .348, third, and Phil Weintraub and Joe Medwick, of the Giants, next at .340 rounding out the top five in averages including games of May 22.

When Durocher loosened a public blast at his Dodgers he made Walker the exception. After sizzling the air with references to the rest of his club, Leo said of Walker, "there's one guy that isn't fooling. I never saw anybody hustle more and play harder. If we had more like Dixie, we wouldn't be in seventh place."

Walker is tied with Holmes for most hits at forty-eight and Team-mate Frency Bordagary's twenty-five run total is tops. Slugging honors remain in Howie Schultz's safe keeping. The Brooklyn first sacker drove in eight more runs during the past week, lifting his RBI mark to thirty-three and boosted his home run production to six. Holmes has most doubles, thirteen.

Joe Baksi Ordered To Remove Beard

NEW YORK, May 23—(P)—Joe Baksi's beard, which the Kulpmont, Pa., heavyweight hoped to wear until D-day, ran into a "take-it-off" order today from New York's Athletic Commission.

For three weeks the ex-miner and former dime-a-dance hall bouncer has been cultivating a whisker crop while training for Friday night's twelve-round scrap with Lee Savold in Madison Square Garden.

"I'm going to shave it off the day our boys invade the continent," said 4-F Joe. But today, as the Kulpmont kid and Savold, the Paterson, N. J., Adonis, appeared for physical checkups before the boxing board, Gen. J. J. Phelan, the commission chairman, opened his rule book and read:

"Contestants must present a tidy appearance, and must be cleanly shaved."

Baksi appeared for the examination wearing blue overalls, a striped and multi-hued polo shirt and a sports jacket, along with G-I work shoes. Savold, on the other hand, was a fashion plate.

Stacy Harris, former ambulance driver in Africa and now out of service with a medical discharge, will play the role he had in real life when he aids the district attorney in putting on "The Case of the Fraudulent Murder" via NBC at 9:30. Morton Downey is the expected guest of Eddie Cantor on NBC at 9 when the program originates from the maritime training station at Sheepshead Bay, N. Y. . . . 47 Prisoners Shot By German Guards, Says Correspondent

LONDON, Tuesday, May 23 (P)—A Stockholm dispatch to the Daily Express said today a detailed account of the killing in March of forty-seven British and Allied prisoners of war by the Nazis showed the "massacre did not take place in a clash between prisoners and guards, but was carried out by groups of guards who lost their heads and shot prisoners haphazardly in barracks, courtyards and workshops."

The Daily Express correspondent, B. D. Masterman, said British pilots who escaped and reached Sweden gave eye-witness accounts of the affair on which an official report, based on their statements, is expected within a few days.

"I understand it will be one of the most shocking stories of the war," he wrote.

News of Invasion Promised by OWI

WASHINGTON, May 23 (P)—The Office of War Information has informed press and radio correspondents that "spot news" of the invasion of Europe would come only from the military theatre.

"The outlook is that Washington as a rule will furnish only complementary military information," the memorandum said.

"Both army and navy public relations offices will be available at all hours to fill in material for

38 More Swedish Firms Placed on Black List

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, May 23 (P)—Reinforcing the drive to have Sweden cut off of ball bearing shipments to Germany, the government's blacklist committee voted today to add thirty-eight additional Swedish firms to the list of proscribed companies which are assisting the German war effort.

These thirty-eight firms, raising to 426 the total number of Swedish firms on the black list, will not be added technically until publication of the regular black list supplement June 2.

Two Unions Oppose Work or Fight Bill

WASHINGTON, May 23 (P)—Opposition to the work-or-fight bill, under which draft boards could induct for war work 4Fs and men between 18 and 45 who refused to take essential jobs came Monday from the American Federation of Labor and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Lewis G. Hines, AFL legislative representative, called the attempt to "coerce" workers where no coercion has been shown necessary.

Martin H. Miller, legislative spokesman for the trainmen's brotherhood, contended also that "there is no need for civilian conscription" in any form at this stage of the war.

The saxophone is named after its inventor, Aloiph Sax.

Governor O'Connor, William Green Will Address AFL Meeting Tonight

Officers Will Be Elected at Business Session Today; Several Resolutions Are Adopted.

Addresses by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Gov. Herbert O'Connor, at a public mass meeting in the Maryland theater tonight will climax the program on the third day of the thirty-ninth annual convention of the Maryland State and District of Columbia Federation of Labor.

Appearance of Green and O'Connor will be the highlight of the four-day convention which will close tomorrow. They will speak following a parade which will get under way promptly at 7 o'clock, forming at the Building Trades council building on Frederick street.

Election of officers, which is expected merely to be a ratification of the unopposed nominations made yesterday, will be the first order of business this morning. The election will be followed by a discussion of the postwar plans of the state AFL.

Buxbaum Is Unopposed

An address by Lawrence F. Fenneman, state director of the War Manpower Commission, (a summary of which will be found in another story in this morning's paper), was the highlight of the second day's session. A resume of the proceedings at the convention yesterday follows:

Robert J. Buxbaum, Baltimore, incumbent president, was re-nominated as president, following his nomination by V. J. McHenry, Baltimore, Glassblowers Local No. 5.

Only one newcomer was nominated for vice president, Charles S. Hill, negro, of Washington, of Hotel Service Workers No. 80. Other nominations are:

John Locher, Washington, Ironworkers No. 486, nominated by Donald C. Dow, Washington, of the Central Labor Union; G. Kingston Howard, Baltimore, Motion Picture Operators No. 181, nominated by Frank Clark Ellis, Baltimore, Title Layers No. 4; Charles B. McClekey, Washington, Bakers No. 118; E. W. Butler, Hagerstown, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Local No. 992; Paul England, this city, Machinists Local No. 1140, nominated by J. T. Debaugh, Firefighters Local No. 654; and Carl G. Scholz, Baltimore, Electrical Workers Local No. 28.

Coleman Will Be Delegate
Frank J. Coleman, Washington, of Platte Burners Local No. 2, is unopposed as secretary. Also running without opposition is Robert Lester, Washington, Bakers Local No. 33, as treasurer, and Vincent J. McHenry, Baltimore, Glass Blowers No. 5, as organizer. Coleman also was unopposed as delegate to the national AFL convention to be held in New Orleans the first Monday in November.

After committee modification, the convention, while expressing appreciation to the president for the many things he has done for organized labor, declined to take a stand on a fourth term, deciding to follow the time honored policy of the AFL of awaiting action of the national convention.

The convention also went on record as favoring a mark-up of the Little Steel formula as a measurement for wage increases, asserting the cost of living has increased.

Minister, Priest and Rabbi Urge Banishment of Enmity and Hatred

Advocate Brotherhood of Men at Final Forum Program

Urging the banishment of enmity, hatred and bigotry from the hearts of men and advocating in their place a brotherhood that does not distinguish among religious beliefs, races or creeds, a Presbyterian minister, a Catholic priest and a Jewish rabbi spoke at the final Cumberland Community Forum program of the season last night in Allegheny high school auditorium.

The three clergymen were Dr. Abraham Shusterman, rabbi of Har Sinai congregation, Baltimore; the Rev. Dr. John J. Russell, pastor of St. Ursula's Catholic church, Baltimore; and the Rev. Dr. Thomas Guthrie Speers, pastor of Brown Memorial Presbyterian church, Baltimore. They spoke here under the auspices of the National Conference of Christians and Jews and addressed slightly more than 100 persons.

As the first speaker Dr. Shusterman explained that the spirit of the movement is that each recognizes the other man's right to worship God according to his conscience, and believes in the fundamental goodness of other groups and of all men.

Strife Threat to America
Outside of the areas of religion, he said, all men must stand together or America will not grow strong, and he added that America should not give up its strength because of strife among Jews, Catholics and Protestants.

Dr. Shusterman declared that many evils, including prejudices against the negro, Catholics, Jews and Protestants, must be crushed today because "unless we are united, we will fail. Unless we stand together the American way will grow weaker and weaker and democracy will decline. Only by standing together will democracy be accomplished in this world."

Dr. Russell, as the second speaker, said that all over the world men fighting the war side by side are Catholics, Jews and Protestants. They all have their basic differences but they are all fighting as Americans to defend America.

Spark of Enmity
At almost anytime in the United States, he asserted, there is the spark of enmity, prejudice or hatred smoldering, waiting to be fanned into flame. There is not solid goodwill, he added, but something of hate and bigotry that is not American.

"We are not asking people to be just tolerant," he related, "not just to put up with other beliefs. We want something broader than that. We have something in common in being Americans. . . . To condemn one group as Catholic, another as Protestant, another as Jew and another as colored is not the American way of doing things."

There are two things that religion can help to do, Dr. Speers, as the final speaker said, naming those two things as making people fit for freedom and making people refuse to hate.

The principal way to make people fit for freedom, Dr. Speers declared, is to make them think for themselves. The nation he explained, is governed by public opinion but often, he added, opinion is manufactured for bad purposes and selfish ends. There have been organizations that spread propaganda to hate.

Youths of Three Counties Are Expected To Attend, Steger Says

A summer camp for members of 4-H boys' clubs will be held from July 9 to 15 at the Pleasant Valley Recreational center, near Bittinger in Garrett county, Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent, said yesterday.

The camp will be for 4-H club boys in Garrett, Allegheny and Washington counties and will be the first to be held in two years, Steger added, pointing out that no camp was held last year.

Registrations for the camp are now being accepted and Steger said he hopes there will be at least fifty youths sign up to attend the camp from the three counties. Age limits, he said, are 10 to 21 years.

Camp supervisors have not yet been chosen, according to Steger, but they will be announced within a short time as well as the name of the camp director.

On Monday Steger and three other men connected with the camp met at the recreational center to discuss plans for the coming summer event. He met with Mylo S. Downey, state 4-H club agent; Vernon Holter, assistant Washington county farm agent, and John Carter, Garrett county farm agent.

The 4-H club camp will be held the week before the recreational center is taken over by Central YMCA for its summer camps for boys and girls. The Police Boys' club also will hold a camp there this summer.

Legion Is Proud Of Achievements, Mulrooney Says

National Vice Commander Is Speaker at Mass Induction Ceremony

Reviewing the record of the American Legion since its inception in Paris, France, in 1919, Edward Mulrooney, of Wilmington, Del., national vice-commander, told an audience of 200 persons which assembled last evening in the state armory for the birthday celebration and mass induction ceremony of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, that the organization is proud of its accomplishments and achievements.

The principal speaker traced the history of the Legion from March 15, 1919, when it came into existence, to the present and said there are now 1,300,000 members and 500,000 auxiliary members enrolled in the organization.

Stresses Child Welfare
In stressing the achievements of the Legion, Mulrooney pointed out that $52,000,000 has been spent for child welfare and six million children have been aided. Ninety-one per cent of the children have been helped in their own homes and were not sent to institutions, he added.

The national vice-commander said that posts throughout the country are sponsoring 3,000 Boy Scout troops, 500,000 boys are playing baseball in junior programs fostered by the Legion and two million copies of the Flag Code have been distributed throughout the country.

He urged new members as well as old to keep their eye on organizations engaged in un-American activities and advised them to always bear in mind that a country worthwhile living in like the United States is worthwhile fighting for.

Misled by Idealists

Speaking on national defense, Mulrooney said that the Legion had advocated passage of the National Service act since 1919, but in spite of its pleadings, twice our nation was misled by idealists and pacifists which on each occasion found us unprepared for war.

The speaker urged all Legionnaires to do their part in the present war effort and promised there "will be no letup on the Legion's part until the dictators are buried in the ruins of Berlin and Tokyo."

Daniel F. McMullen, past Maryland department commander, introduced the speaker.

J. Nelson Tribby, Maryland department adjutant, preceded Mulrooney and remarked that he believes Fort Cumberland Post has had the honor of entertaining more national officers than any post in the department.

Tribby Makes Pledge

Tribby said he has pledged that the first post obtaining 1,000 members will be honored with a visit from the national commander and expressed the hope that Cumberland will reach that goal in 1945. He praised the work done by Samuel A. Graham, membership chairman, as a "marvelous job" and added that the Legion today is the largest World War No. 2 organization with 200,000 men from the present war enrolled. Tribby brought greetings from Dr. Herbert C. Blake, department commander, who was unable to attend because he was called upon to perform three major operations yesterday in Baltimore.

Graham said that the local post now has 848 members and holds first place in the department.

Mulrooney administered the oath of the American Legion to seventy-four members. Assisting in the ceremonies were Thomas Raymond Farrell, chaplain; Percy Crabtree, sergeant-at-arms; Clarence Eyre, G. Ray Lippold, past commander; Graham and Charles G. Smith, commander. The class was named in honor of Humphrey E. Johnston, who obtained 107 candidates in the annual membership drive.

Past commanders present included Judge William A. Huster, Robert C. Bowers, Thomas F. Conlon, Claude L. Deal, G. Ray Lippold and Wesley H. Abrams.

Many Visitors Attend

Others introduced were Jack Boschen, adjutant of Post 27, Baltimore; John R. Kelly, Mountain district vice-commander; Miss Anne M. Sloan, Lonaconing, department child welfare chairman; Samuel J. Cohen, Hagerstown, alternate national commander for six years; Mrs. John R. Kelly, Fort Cumberland auxiliary president; Richard Stonebraker, Hagerstown, Western Maryland district vice-commander; Robert Tenney, Morris Frock Post No. 42, Hagerstown; John Long, past commander of Internal Revenue Post, Washington, D. C.; Chester Stine, Hagerstown, department executive committee member; Mrs. Adah Long, vice-president of Mountain district, and Dick Shaffer, of Oakland.

A concert by the post band, directed by Joseph M. Fradiska, preceded the exercises, while the program was climaxed by a dance with music by the Society Ramblers.

Cites State Record
By more stringent manpower regulations, but little disruption of civilian economy, the state director said, "Maryland industries have handled over four billion dollars worth of war contracts and have produced on schedule and, in many instances, ahead of schedule."

Calling upon labor to continue to handle its problems of industrial relations in a co-operative spirit, Fenneman advised the meeting that (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)
